

Collegiate Space Mining Competition

Iowa State University | May 21 - 24

Iowa State University proudly hosts the Collegiate Space Mining Competition, a premier event in Ames, Iowa, bringing together top collegiate teams from around the nation to tackle real-world challenges in space resource extraction and robotics. Through sponsorship, your organization will support the next generation of engineers and innovators as they compete in designing, building, and operating autonomous mining systems capable of withstanding the rigorous demands of extraterrestrial environments. Partner with us to drive progress in space technology, inspire students, and showcase your commitment to the future of space exploration.
